SUICIDE OR ACCIDENT?

THE HIRTH MURDER.

The feature of the evening was the presenta-tion of the relies to the Pest. Mr. F. E. Brow-nell, "Elisworth's Avenger," made a touching address in presenting a piece of the rebel flag-batical down at the Marshall House, in Alex-andria, May 24, 1861, by Colonel Elisworth, and for which he was killed by Jackson, the proprietor. In the course of his remarks Mr. Brownell referred to the early life of his old commander, showing the hardships he had to undergo while in the study of the law. In 1859, while living in the city of Chicago, he A Tragedy on a Canal-Boat in Georgetown. Patrick Fitzgerald was found yesterday morning lying in the cabin of the mail-packet Ella, in the canal at the foot of Congress street, Georgetown, with a pistol wound in his right temple, and a Colt's revolver, with one chamber emptied, on the floor beside him. He was removed to Providence Hospital, and died was removed to Providence Hospital, and dict at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The body was taken back to the Georgetown station-house, where an inquest will be held this morning. The theory was alvanced at first that Fitz-gerald had been murdered, but the police con-1839, while living in the city of Chicago, he organized the famous Fire Zouaves, with which he made a tour of the United States. At the outbreak of the war he off-red his com-mand to Governor Yates, and it was accepted, his first duty being that of escort to President Lincoln on his Journey to Washington, Shortly after he went to New York and organized cluded that it was a case of suicide or accident. Fitzgerald was about twenty-five years of age, and lived at the Great Falls. He associated with one Lorenzo Hill in carrying the mails from Georgetown to Great Falls. The engineer of the boat says he weke Fitzgerald at 7 o'clock, reminding him that he had to carry the mails that morning. About 8:30 o'clock he was seen on the street that the boat and he was seen on the street. cluded that it was a case of suicide or accident a regiment by private subscriptions, which was sworn into service by the Governor of that State. It was while in command of this regiment that he went to Alexandria and met near the boat, and he was not seen again until the engineer found him in the cabin dying. Fitzgerald was a single man and his mother is death at the hands of the assassin Jackson he speaker also made reference to the esteem which Eilsworth was held by the lamented and father are both dead. He is represented Lincoln, who looked upon him as a younger brother and manifested the most intense grief and inther are note of order. He is represented as having been sober and industrious. He was paid off last Thesday, receiving $35. He also had received $10 from Mr. Garret, the owner of the boat, to put in the bank for him. In his pockets yesterday were found the $10 at his early death. The story of his death was vividly described, the audience being deeply interested. Comrade E. L. Townsend, in presenting a folded in the pages of the bank-book given him by Mr. Garret and $13 of his own money. The revolver which was found by Fitzgerald's piece of the lace curtain attached to the box at Ford's Theater the night President Lincoln side was loaded several months ago. The canal people and others are of the opinion that the shooting was accidental. The theory of the police is that as Fitzgerald was removing the pistol from his pocket to place it on the shelf above him, it was discharged accidentally was assassinated, spoke as follows:

Commander, in pursuance of my military duties, I arrived in Washington on the 16th say of April, 1865. The blow that felled the Chief Executive of the Nation had almost paralyzed like energies of the people, and with bated breath they made reference to the dire catastrophe. Impelled by a desire to witness a sense of the tragency, I visited Ford's Theatre, and upon the spot where it occured obtained the preceous role which I desire to present to Lincoln Post, No. 3, of which you are the commander for the present year.

It has been a subject of much consideration upon my part what disposition should be made of it, but I finally determined to place it in the custody of Lincoln Post, stipulating that at the annual installation of officers of the Post, this relic shall be leanded by the retiring commander to his sucdentally.

Attorney Corkhill's Assistant. United States District-Attorney Corkhill restorday appointed Mr. R. Ross Perry as his first assistant. The appointment will com-mend itself to public approbation. Mr. Perry is a young lawyer of rare ability and logal attainments, and the verdict of the bar is that be will fill the bill. Colonel Corkhill seems to be giving his administration a very healthy send-off.

"The Cheapest Article in the World."

This is what a grateful gentleman said who was cured of a bad kidney disease by the use of Safe Kidney and Liver Cure after he had offered in vain $1,000 to any doctor who would rid him of it. It is the cheapest article in the world to all afflicted with kidney and liver diseases. Congress Water.
